Richie Storck joins SOSH Architects as a Project Coordinator. A resident of Philadelphia, PA, Storck graduated from the Tyler School of Art at Temple University earning a Bachelor and Master of Architecture. With four years of experience at various Philadelphia design firms, he brings an understanding of design and production to the residential projects at SOSH Architects. Outside of his professional career, Richie enjoys spending time with his family in Brigantine and cheering on his favorite Philadelphia sports teams, especially the Temple Owls.

“We are excited to welcome Richie to our team,” said SOSH Principal, Mark Petrella. “I look forward to collaborating with him on many of our residential projects. His experience and design expertise will be a tremendous asset to our expanding clientele.”

Margarita Litvin, a Galloway, NJ resident, joins the SOSH team as an Interior Designer. Margarita studied in Russia, earning a Bachelor of Science in Tourism and Hospitality Management from Pyatigorsk State Linguistic University. She later completed a Master of Science of Interior Architecture at Thomas Jefferson University. In her spare time, Margarita enjoys experimenting with new recipes and cooking techniques. Her creativity also extends to writing short stories for her two children.

“Margarita is a talented interior designer and we are proud to welcome her to SOSH,” said Michael Mangini, Director of Interior Design at SOSH. “Her fresh perspective will be a great addition to our design team.”

Storck and Litvin are two more of the new additions to join the SOSH team in the last six months. The firm is dedicated to expanding their team and providing professional growth and mentoring opportunities for both new and seasoned staff.
